Biographical note

Daniel Wallace Lang was born in Gulfport, Mississippi, on 24 January, 1944. He attended Cranston High School in Canston, Rhode Island, from which he graduated in 1962. That year he was the New England champion of the National Forensic League, the oldest and largest American high school speech and debate honour society. In the fall of 1962, aided by a General Motors Scholarship, he entered Wesleyan University in Middletown, Connecticut, from which he received his Bachelor of Arts in 1966. In the summer of 1965, he was a teaching associate in history and economics at the Phillips-Exeter Academy, a co-educational college in Exeter, New Hampshire. In the summer of 1966 he was resident master and a teacher of social studies at the Upward Bound program for the City of Middleton. In 1966-1967, with a Root-Tilden scholarship, he attended the School of Law at New York University. He received his Master of Arts from Wesleyan in 1969.

In 1967, Lang was offered the position of assistant to the Dean of Admissions at Wesleyan, which he held for a year before moving up to assistant dean. During that year he also taught history and American studies at Greenwich High School in Greenwich, Connecticut. From 1969 to 1973 he was Associate Dean; he then left for Canada because he had accepted a position at the University of Toronto.

Lang's move up through the administrative ranks at the University of Toronto was rapid. His first position, as research assistant to the Higher Education Group and the Office of the Provost, lasted until 1975. From 1975 to 1977 he was Research and Planning Officer for Academic Program Planning. He then moved on to a two-year stint as Director of Planning and executive assistant to the Vice-President, Research and Planning. In 1979 he became Assistant Vice-President and Director of Planning.

In 1983, Professor Lang was appointed chief of staff in the Office of the President, holding that position under two presidents, David Strangway and George Connell. He also served as Vice-Provost and Assistant Vice-President (Planning and Budget) and University Registrar from 1983 to 1997. In that capacity he chaired, variously, the Budget Planning Secretariat, the Development Planning Secretariat, the Accommodation and Facilities Directorate, and the President's Advisory Committee on Archives and Records Management. In 1994-1995 he was Vice-President, Computing and Communications. From 2002 to 2007 he served as Co-ordinator for the Program in Higher Education and in 2004 as Associate Chair of the Department of Theory and Policy Studies at OISE/UT. He also served as Senior Policy Advisor to the President of the U of T from 1998 to 2000 and again from 2005 to 2012.

In 1974 Lang began working on his doctorate at the U of T, which he obtained in 1976. In 1978 he was appointed assistant professor in the Graduate Department of Educational Theory; he was promoted to Associate Professor in 1983, a status that lasted until 1997 when the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education (OISE) merged with the U of T. He then became a professor in the Department of Theory and Policy Studies at OISE/UT. In 1996 he was appointed professor in the Division of Management and Economics at U of T Scarborough. He has also been a professor in the Department of Geography and a professor at Victoria College. From 2006 to 2009 he served as Academic Colleague with the Council of Ontario Universities. In 2008 he was Visiting Professor at Fudan University in Shanghai and Wuhan University in Wuhan, China. At the University of Toronto he has taught courses at the undergraduate and graduate level (they are listed in his curriculum vitae), and has supervised many graduate theses and a number of visiting scholars (also listed).

Professor Lang has long been active in a wide variety of professional activities. This includes professional associations such as the Association for Institutional Research (1975-2000), the Operations Planning and Analysis Group (1979-1991), the Center for Research Libraries (1993-1999), and the Ontario Universities Council on Admissions (1998-2005) where he chaired various committees and/or on the boards. He was a member of the Associate Graduate Faculty, Central Michigan University, from 1998 to 2005, and has served in various board capacities at the University of Toronto Schools (1986-1996), St. Augustine's Seminary (2001-2007), Seneca College (2006, 2007), Algoma University College (1998-), University of Calgary (2006-) and the Toronto School of Theology (2008-). The single greatest beneficiary of his expertise has been the Council of Ontario Universities, where he has served on many committees and task forces, beginning in 1982. He has also done a lot of work for the Ontario Ministry of Colleges and Universities/Ministry of Training, Colleges and Universities, especially its Task Force on Accountability (1991-1993), its Graduate Survey of 1997 with the COU, and Steering Committee / Working Group on Transfers (2008-2011). From 2016-2018, he served as Special Advisor to the Deputy Minister and served on the planning committee for a French-language university in Ontario [Conseil de planification de l'université de langue française, Université de l'Ontario français].

Professor Lang has also long promoted scholarly discussion by editing, sitting on the editorial boards of, or acting as editorial consultant to numerous academic journals, including Interchange: A Journal of Educational Studies (1974-1975), Canadian Journal of Higher Education (1973-1996), Ontario Journal of Higher Education (1994-1997), Canadian Society for the Study of Higher Education Professional File (1997-), and Higher Education Perspectives (1998-2001). He was also a manuscript reviewer for the University of Toronto Press from 1997 to 1999 and for the years 2001, 2004, 2007, and 2009.

Professor Lang has also written three books, numerous chapters in books, and a substantial number of refereed journal articles and review essays, along with other articles and letters to the editor. He has presented papers at many refereed conference proceedings (some of which have been published), given a good number of other papers, public lectures and presentations at invitational panels.

Professor Lang has been the recipient of a number of honours including International Association of Universities Palgrave Prize (2003) and the Beijing Forum (2004). In 2005 he was made an honorary member of the Senate of Algoma University College, Laurentian University, and was named to the Papal Order of Saint Gregory in 2006. That year he also received the Arbor Award for outstanding personal service to the University of Toronto. His passion for baseball was recognized when he was named OUA Coach of the Year in 2004 for his many years of service to the University of Toronto Blues baseball team. In 2010 he was inducted into the University of Toronto Sports Hall of Fame. He stepped down from coaching in 2011.

Date range: 1957-2018

Extent: 3.05 m (boxes) of textual and graphic records
80 3.5 inch floppy disks
2 CDs (CD-R)
23 MB (275 digital files)

Scope and content:

This series provides partial documentation Professor Lang's years as a senior administrator at the University of Toronto. It begins with correspondence, primarily with President Connell, and related material regarding the Ontario Commission on the Future Development of the Universities of Ontario (the Bovey Commission), followed by later correspondence (to 1990) with him. The subsequent correspondence files end in 2010, some of which are contained on 3.5 inch floppy disks.

Professor Lang's "general files" and "miscellaneous projects" begin with two major controversial decisions, the first being the closure of the Faculty of Food Sciences (1974) and the proposed closure of the Faculty of Architecture and Landscape Architecture (1986), with only the first being realized. The remainder of this subseries focuses on capital plans and budgeting, primarily responsibility centre budgeting as applied to Scarborough College. There are also files on Maclean's magazine university and college surveys from the 1990s. The admission surveys from the last quarter of the 20th century also include a Maclean's survey.

In the mid-1990s the University introduced a new electronic students' records system (ROSI) with leadership provided by the Registrars Group. It is well documented here.

Professor Lang's activities as a senior policy advisor to the President of the University of Toronto are also documented but only for the years 2005 to 2007.

Professor Lang maintained extensive files on campus development plans and building projects from the mid-1960s to the late 1990s relating to all three campuses, including several on the Southwest Campus. There are also proposals to provide land for a new headquarters building for the Municipality of Metropolitan Toronto (1982) and facilities for the abortive bid to hold the summer Olympics in Toronto in 1996.

B2011-0003 ends with several proposals for an innovations centre and an industrial research centre at the University in the decade from the mid-1980s.

B2018-0001 includes further files related to his role as Senior Policy Advisor to David Naylor, a role in which he served until 2012. Also included are arbitration briefs and notes about a dispute between the Faculty Association and the University in 1986-1987, regarding mandatory retirement for professors.

Digital files include email correspondence with several Government of Ontario and U of T officials; files about the Maclean's survey; and files (notes, briefs, reports) about the expansion of the number of graduate students at the University of Toronto.

The sub-titles in this series are those used by Professor Lang in his original box list. The files contain correspondence, memoranda, notes, and reports. Also included are compact discs containing certain files of correspondence and reports. The arrangement is generally by categories and chronologically within each, with like materials grouped together.

Access: Restricted. Records relating to Dr. Lang's role as Senior Policy Advisor to the President of the University of Toronto are restricted for 20 years from date of document.

Extent: 2.40 m (12 boxes) of textual records, publications, and architectural drawings

Scope and content: This series begins with files that Professor Lang's broad activities within OISE/UT as recorded in his performance assessments, activity reports and course evaluations. There are followed by files on the Provost's OISE Committee of the late 1970s through the mid-1980s, which include material on the first pass at the thorny issue of the possible integration of OISE into the University of Toronto. Most of the files relating to the Higher Education Group, with which Professor Lang was primarily associated at OISE, contain material spanning almost 20 years on examination questions.

The bulk of this series, however, relates to the merger of OISE with the U of T to create, in 1995, OISE/UT. Professor Lang's personal work binders on the merger are present, as are legal and other documents on the merger, followed by implementation files, including those of the Academic Implementation Task Force and on the issues relating to OISE's property. The series concludes with files on the OISE/UT Joint MPHEd program with the Faculty of Medicine (2003-2004).

The files are arranged largely chronologically within each grouping. They contain correspondence, memos, minutes of meetings, notes, drafts of reports, maps and architectural drawings.

Series 6: Professional activities: Council of Ontario Universities

Date range: 1967-2018

Extent: 0.98 m (10 boxes) of textual records and publications
89 MB (286 digital files)

Scope and content: The Council of Ontario Universities (COU) was formed on December 3, 1962 as the "Committee of Presidents of Provincially Assisted Universities and Colleges of Ontario," with its current name being adopted in 1971. The mandate of the COU is to "build awareness of the university sector's contributions to the social, economic and cultural well-being of the province and the country, as well as the issues that impact the sector's ability to maximize these contributions." It works with Ontario's publicly assisted universities and one associate member institution, the Royal Military College of Canada. This series documents the activities of a number of its committees and task forces, which are detailed below, approximately in order of activity.

Professor Lang was a member of the COU's Committee on Enrolment Statistics and Projections from 1976 to 1990. In 1982-1983 he sat on its Special Committee on BILD Administrative Procedures and from 1987 to 1991 was a member of its Research Advisory Group. In 1991 he was invited to be part of a small task force to present proposals to the government for an income contingent repayment plan for Ontario students. Throughout much of the 1990s, he was involved with the COU's Committee on University Accountability and the Performance Indicators for the Public Postsecondary System in Ontario project, better known as the Performance Indicators Project, the purpose of which was to assess the overall Ontario postsecondary sector.

He was also a member of four task forces: Audit Guidelines (1998-2000), Secondary School Issues (1998-2005), Student Financial Assistance (2006-), and Quality Assurance (2008-2010). The Task Force on Secondary School Issues was established to assess the evaluation of students in the new secondary school program of studies and to make recommendations regarding the monitoring of grading practices and standards.

The COU's Quality and Productivity Task Force work was to outline "all the quality and productivity initiatives" undertaken to "showcase results for the government's increased investment in universities." Its report, presented in March 2006, was followed by the COU Task Force on Quality Measurements, chaired by David Naylor of the University of Toronto. It was charged with addressing the "broad issues related to quality measurement, developing the long-term strategies for COU's work with the government and the Higher Education Quality Council of Ontario (HEQCO)."¹

The files in this series contain correspondence, memoranda, notes, minutes of meetings, drafts of reports, and assorted background reports and other documentation. The arrangement is largely by project in chronological order.

Files in B2018-0001 include correspondence with U of T and COU colleagues, as well as further records related to his role on the COU's Committee on University Accountability. Also included are further records about the COU's Task Force on Quality Assurance (2008-2010), including its subsequent transition and implementation phase.

Scope and content: Professor Lang's first major collaboration with the then Ministry of Colleges and Universities began in 1991 when he was a member of the Minister's Task Force on University Accountability. In 2006 he became a member of the Ministry's Joint Working Group on Student Access Guarantee. From 2008 to 2011 he was the Ministry's Working Group and Steering Committee on Transfer. Not all of these activities are documented in this series.

In 2006-2007 the Ministry of Training, Colleges and Universities undertook two inter-related research projects "aimed generally at learning about the characteristics of 'first-generation' students." The first, "College Choice", focused on the factors that influenced students in seeking post-secondary education and their choices of
