<sup>2</sup> Where merely a general heading is set down, such as philosophy, everything on that subject is to be filed there. Where, under such a heading, there are subdivisions that are not complete, anything that does not fall under an appropriate subdivision should go under the main category. Thus each main heading will cover unclassified material, whether the term "general" is used or not.

<sup>3</sup> But not including psychiatric information, which comes under mental hygiene.

<sup>4</sup> Including mythology, theology, church history, and modern churches, except their social work activities, which go under "Private Social Work."

<sup>5</sup> The Social Science Encyclopedia plan is being followed from this point. Only those headings are being picked out that appear to be useful for purposes of my own collection. As a guide to classification refer back to the S.S.E. plan to see sub-headings under the categories I am using.

<sup>6</sup> Note that only material on methodology is to go under these headings, e.g., books or reports of a general nature or statistical or research methods. Statistical methods relating clearly to a given subject, say public assistance, fall under that category.

<sup>7</sup> This should not cover population, which appears as a sub-heading under "Sociology." General and specific material on travel may be filed here.

<sup>14</sup> General material on the theory of social insurance, descriptive material that doesn't fall under any of the subdivisions very clearly, etc. Note that a separate category "Social Security" is being set up under the general heading "Social Welfare" to provide for material on the U. S. Social Security Act and administration that cannot be broken down under other headings that are given, e.g., the Act itself, reports of the Board on all phases of its work, etc. Both public and private (trade union, employers', etc.) measures should be included under the headings that follow.

<sup>19</sup> The classification numbers 560-579 are being used for topics falling under the general headings "Health" and "Social Welfare." At this point there is marked deviation from the S.S.E. plan, which does not permit as much breakdown as seemed desirable. Since these are topics of concentration of interest, material should be classified here rather than elsewhere if it bears some reasonable relation to the topics listed.

<sup>20</sup> Covering material on specific diseases, diagnosis, medical techniques, etc. In other words, the science of medicine and the art of medical practice as distinct from economic and social arrangements governing the practice of medicine. This material, classified under M. by the Library of Congress, is placed here because I am primarily interested in it as background for health service problems.

<sup>33</sup> The Classification numbers 580-599 are available for material on international problems. Generally speaking, current material (approximately post-war) belongs here rather than in the history section.

<sup>34</sup> With particular reference to the Sino Japanese War. But material on recent developments within Japan or China, e.g., Edgar Snow's book, should be placed here.

<sup>35</sup> I have placed this category here, rather than under "Social Revolution," because it is so significant at present in terms of world politics.

<sup>36</sup> This heading may overlap 502, "Civil Liberties," considerably. It is intended that material on fascist or semi-fascist movements or activities that is not readily classified under 502 or elsewhere should be placed here.

<sup>37</sup> The items that follow are based upon the S.S.E. plan. But some of them are rather vague and I am not well satisfied with this section. In general it will be appropriate only to place under these headings material that pretty clearly cannot be classified elsewhere.

<sup>40</sup> From this point the Library of Congress outline has been followed, with my own improvisation on detail. It may be advisable to rework all of this, following a more detailed L.C. plan than the one I have had in front of me.
