Biographical note

Michael R. Marrus (1941- 2022) was a University of Toronto professor and historian who was an internationally-recognized expert on the Holocaust and Jewish and French history.

Born in Toronto, Prof. Marrus received his BA from the University of Toronto in 1963. He then received his MA (1964) and PhD (1968) at the University of California, Berkeley. He also received his Master of Studies in Law from the University of Toronto in 2005.

Prof. Marrus began his career at the University of Toronto as Assistant Professor of History in 1968. He became Associate Professor in 1973, full Professor in 1978, and Professor Emeritus in 2009. Prof. Marrus also served as the Chancellor Rose and Ray Wolfe Professor of Holocaust Studies from 2000 to 2006 (and since 2007, as Chancellor Rose and Ray Wolfe Professor Emeritus of Holocaust Studies). He also taught as an adjunct in the Faculty of Law since 2006.

In addition to his teaching and research duties, Prof. Marrus served the University of Toronto in many administrative capacities, including on Governing Council (1987-1996, 2002-2009, 2010-) and as Dean of the School of Graduate Studies (1997-2004).

Prof. Marrus was a visiting fellow of St. Antony's College, Oxford and the Institute for Advanced Studies of the Hebrew University of Jerusalem, and a visiting professor at UCLA and the University of Cape Town, South Africa.

During his career, Prof. Marrus published numerous articles and books on the Holocaust and the treatment of Jewish people in France during the Second World War. Some of his most notable books include The politics of assimilation: a study of the French Jewish community at the time of the Dreyfus Affair (1971), Vichy France and the Jews (1981), The unwanted: European Refugees in the Twentieth Century (1985), The Holocaust in history (1987), Mr. Sam: the life and times of Samuel Bronfman (1991), and Some measure of justice: the Holocaust era restitution campaign of the 1990s (2009). He was also editor of a fifteen-volume work, The Nazi Holocaust: historical articles on the destruction of European Jews (1992). Prof. Marrus presented his research in both local and international settings, at numerous conferences, academic gatherings, and community group events.

Prof. Marrus was appointed to serve on the International Catholic-Jewish Historical Commission, which consisted of three Jewish and three Catholic scholars tasked with exploring the role of the Vatican during the Holocaust. The commission worked from 1999 to 2001, and issued a report in 2000. In 2008, Marrus was awarded the Order of Canada.

Prof. Marrus married Randi Greenstein in 1971 and had three children. Following a period of ill health, Marrus died on Dec. 23rd, 2022.

Scope and content

Date range: 1964-2012

Extent: 2.73 m of textual records

67 3.5 inch floppy disks

42 photographs

3 sound recordings (cassette tapes)

Fonds consists of correspondence, news clippings, reports, reviews, appointment calendars, and other records relating to Michael R. Marrus's education, academic career, publishing record and university and community service. In particular, records document Prof. Marrus's prestigious career as a historian of the Holocaust and an expert on the relationships between Christians and Jews (predominantly in France) during World War Two, and also document his involvement in ongoing concerns in the Jewish community, both pertaining to faith and Zionism. In particular, Prof. Marrus's extensive publishing record is well-documented in contracts, reviews, and ongoing correspondence with readers and colleagues debating and exploring the assertions made in his work. The fonds also documents Prof. Marrus's career as a student at Berkeley in the 1960s, and his return to student life with his pursuit of a Master of Studies in Law degree (MSL) from the University of Toronto in 2004. Some records also relate to Prof. Marrus's teaching duties and appointments at the University of Toronto, as well as his service on the University's Governing Council. One series documents his service on the International Catholic-Jewish Historical Commission (1999-2001) and with the Friends of Le Chambon-sur-Lignon.

Language: Some material (primarily in correspondence and publication files) is in French and German.

Series 1: Biographical and Education

Date range: 1964-2011

Extent: 0.22m (2 boxes) of textual records

Scope and content: Series consists of records documenting Prof. Marrus's personal life and education, including a copy of his CV, photocopies of personal documents, and a journal from his trips to Israel in 1983, 1988, 1989 and 1990. The series also contains his PhD thesis from Berkeley (The politics of assimilation: a study of the French Jewish community at the time of the Dreyfus affair) and some records pertaining to the 1964 free speech movement at Berkeley, in which Prof. Marrus was involved as a student, including leaflets, news clippings, and a monograph.

The series also documents two of Prof. Marrus's later educational pursuits. The first is a certificate from an Italian course at Centro Internazionale Dante Alighieri (2002). In addition, the series documents his time as a student in the Faculty of Law's Master of Studies in Law program in 2004/05, including press coverage, transcripts, correspondence, essays, timetables, lecture notes, and his thesis.

Lastly, the series contains records relating to Prof. Marrus's appointment into the Order of Canada, including the program, general information sent from Rideau Hall, letters of congratulations, and photographs.

Series 3: Correspondence

Date range: 1969-1996, 2001-2008

Extent: 1.11 m (2 boxes) of textual records

Scope and content: Series consists of correspondence, primarily of a professional nature, relating to Prof. Marrus's work as an academic and author, dating from his appointment at the University of Toronto in 1968. Correspondents include students, academics, publishers, colleagues, and community organizations covering a wide range of topics. Some letters address the general administration of Prof. Marrus's employment and research accounts, grants and funding, and teaching duties/assignments. Other letters include invitations for speaking engagements, writing projects and conferences; letters of appreciation; requests for his expert opinion; discussions/debates on Zionism; and responses to his work. Although the majority of the correspondence is incoming, some outgoing correspondence is included, including Prof. Marrus's comments on others' work (as solicited by the author or as part of a peer review process). Later correspondence files also include news clippings, event information, and newsletters.

Correspondence relating to specific publications can also be found in series 4.

Access: Files are restricted until 1 January 2031.

Boxes: B2011-0009/003 (03)-(06)
B2011-0009/005-/011

Series 4: Publishing

Date range: 1968-2012

Extent: 0.44 m (4 boxes) of textual and graphic material

Scope and content: Series consists of records relating to Prof. Marrus's vast publishing record. In particular, files pertain to specific publication projects (predominantly book projects), and include contracts, reviews, and correspondence with publishers, literary agents and readers. Few files include research notes. Files are arranged chronologically by publication date, with a general file of reviews at the end.

Access: Files are restricted until 1 January 2031.

Boxes: B2011-0009/012- B2011-0009/015 (01)-(03)

Series 5: Teaching and University Service

Date range: 1968-2012

Extent: 0.21 m (2 boxes) of textual records

Scope and content: Series consists of various records relating to Prof. Marrus's teaching responsibilities and other service to the University of Toronto. Records relating to Prof. Marrus's employment include a file on promotion, tenure and review and a file relating to his position as the Chancellor Rose and Ray Wolfe Professor of Holocaust Studies. These files contain salary information, correspondence, and some event announcements. Another file contains correspondence from one year of Prof. Marrus's time on Governing Council (1990/91). The series also includes 3 files relating to Prof. Marrus's supervision of graduate students, which include correspondence, fellowship applications, dissertation proposals, and other related records.

Access: Files in box 15 are restricted until 1 January 2031. Lecture notes (box 16) are open.

Boxes: B2011-0009/015 (04)-(09)

B2011-0009/016 (01)-(05)

Series 6: Christian-Jewish Relations: Le Chambon-sur-Lignon and The Vatican Commission

Date range: 1983-2003

Extent: 0.52 m (5 boxes) of textual records and sound recordings

Scope and content: Series consists of records pertaining to Prof. Marrus's research and investigation into matters relating to Christian-Jewish relations during the Holocaust. In particular, the files relate to two groups: Le Chambon and the Vatican Commission.

Series includes files relating to Prof. Marrus's service on the Board of Directors of the Friends of Le Chambon (later named the Chambon Foundation). The organization, founded in 1982, is dedicated to telling the story of Le Chambon-sur-Lignon, a mountain village in France, where 5000 Christians sheltered 5000 Jews during the Holocaust. The foundation was founded by filmmaker Pierre Sauvage, who made the documentary Weapons of the Spirit. In 2004, then French President Chirac visited the site, which brought it increased attention. Records relating to Le Chambon include correspondence, newsletters, news clippings, and other records in both French and English.

Series also contains files relating to Prof. Marrus's membership on the Vatican International Catholic Jewish Historical Commission, which was tasked with examining the role of the Vatican during the Holocaust. The group was formed in 1999, issued a report in 2000, and disbanded in 2001 after failing to gain access to records in the Vatican archives. Records relating to the Vatican Commission include significant correspondence, reports, clippings and taped interviews with Father Peter Gumpel, a Jesuit priest whose family had to escape Germany due to their views against the National Socialists. Then, during the WWII, Gumpel helped Jews to escape in the Netherlands.

Access: Files are restricted until 1 January 2031.

Boxes: B2011-0009/017-/020
B2011-0009/001S

Series 7: External Organizations

Date range: 1988-1993

Extent: 0.13 m (1 box) of textual records

Scope and content: Series consists of several files relating to Prof. Marrus's involvement in various organizations outside of the university. Records relating to the Canadian Historical Association include some newsletters, minutes, and correspondence relating to his candidacy as vice president. Series also contains correspondence, proposals and reports relating to Prof. Marrus's participation in the Yarnston Group, formed to determine the future direction of Auschwitz's museum and monuments, and the symposium "The Future of Auschwitz: A Symposium of Jewish Intellectuals and Scholars" (April 6-9 1992).

Lastly, the series consists of correspondence, reports, news clippings and other records relating to a controversy at the Holy Blossom Temple, Canada's oldest synagogue, regarding proposed renovations to the sanctuary, so that it would face east (towards Israel).

Access: Files are restricted until 1 January 2031.

Boxes: B2011-0009/021

Series 8: Photographs

Date range: [199-?]-[200-?]

Extent: 0.07 m (boxes) of graphic material

24 photographic prints

3 contact sheets

3 photonegatives

Scope and content: Series consists of various photographs of Prof. Marrus. Photographs are predominantly professional portraits, but also include a photograph of Prof. Marrus delivering a speech in academic costume and 4 photographs from the Order of Canada ceremony.
