GEORGE IGNATIEFF FONDS

Dates of creation:

[191-?] - 1989

Extent:

9 m of textual records

Approximately 770 photographs

5 scrapbooks

24 audiovisual records

Biographical sketch:

George Ignatieff, diplomat and administrator, was born into a Russian aristocratic family in St. Petersburg in 1913. He was the fifth and youngest son of Count Paul Ignatieff and Natalie Ignatieff (née Princess Mestchersky). After fleeing Russia during the Bolshevik Revolution, the family arrived in England in 1920. By the end of that decade they had relocated to Upper Melbourne, Quebec. George Ignatieff was educated at Lower Canada College, Montreal, and in Toronto at Central Technical School and Jarvis Collegiate. In 1936 he graduated with a BA in Political Science and Economics from Trinity College, and then went to Oxford on a Rhodes Scholarship, completing his MA in Slavic Studies in 1938. At Lester B. Pearson's suggestion, Ignatieff wrote the External Affairs examination in 1939 and began working at Canada House in London. He returned to the Department of External Affairs in Ottawa in 1944. His many postings included: Canadian Ambassador to Yugoslavia (1956-1958), Assistant Undersecretary of State for External Affairs (1960-1962), Permanent Representative to NATO in 1963, and Canadian Ambassador to the UN (1966-1969). In 1972, Ignatieff left the post of Permanent Representative of Canada to the European Office of the UN at Geneva (from 1970) to become ninth Provost and Vice-chancellor of Trinity College, a position he held until 1979. From 1980 to 1986 he was Chancellor of the University of Toronto. He was Chair of the National Museums of Canada Board (1973-1978), and in the 1980s was active in Science for Peace. In 1973 he was made a Companion of the Order of Canada and in 1984 was awarded the Pearson Peace Medal. Throughout the years he received many honorary degrees and other awards. In 1985 the University of Toronto Press published his memoirs, The Making of a Peacemonger.

George Ignatieff married (Jessie) Alison Grant (1916-1992) in 1944; the couple had two sons, Michael (b.1947) and Andrew (b.1952). George Ignatieff died on 10 August 1989 in Sherbrooke, Quebec.

Scope and content:

Fonds consists of records pertaining to George Ignatieff's professional career and personal life. Genealogical information about the Ignatieff family documents their lives in Russia and immigration to Canada. Some records relate to the Parkin and Grant families. Family records include memoirs, diaries, photographs, student records, journals and correspondence. Ignatieff's professional life as a diplomat with the Canadian government is documented by correspondence, subject files, speeches, reports, newspaper clippings and photographs. Records from 1972 to 1986 are mainly from Ignatieff's career as an administrator at the University of Toronto. These records were generated during day-to-day operations of these offices and include correspondence, subject files, speeches, writings, clippings and notebooks. In addition, there are documents associated with other organizations and activities in which he was involved, as well as documents relating to his honorary degrees and awards. Extensive background material and drafts trace the evolution of Ignatieff's published memoir, The Making of a Peacemonger.

Correspondence and photographs can be found throughout the fonds. Researchers are encouraged to search broadly.

SERIES 7: MEMOIRS

Dates of creation:

1928 - 1989

Extent:

59 cm of textual records

8 photographs : b&w ; 20 x 25 cm or smaller

Scope and content:

Series consists of drafts, typescripts, correspondence, and research materials for "Things Old and New" (1964) and "One Sows and Another Reaps," which was later developed as "Surprise! Surprise!" The result of these efforts was The Making of a Peacemonger, published by University of Toronto Press in 1985 and later reprinted by Penguin. "Vignettes" (renamed "The Human Parade") was written in March - July 1989. Ignatieff wrote that it was meant as a "follow-on to my memoirs," The Making of a Peacemonger. Files range from original typed copies to edited or corrected photocopies.

Audio recordings of some chapters can be found in Series 12.

SERIES 8: SPEECHES
Dates of creation:

1934 – 1989

Extent:

150 cm of textual records
 3 photographs ; col ; 15 cm and smaller

Scope and content:

Series includes speeches from the mid-1960s to the end of his career. They cover a wide range of topics and locations, including remarks to the United Nations, a salute to Churchill, and an introduction of Prime Minister Trudeau at an art exhibition opening. As well, there are speeches or remarks associated with his activities at Trinity College and the University of Toronto. Included are also talks on more personal subjects such as human rights and disarmament, and those given to Upper Canada College and the Canadian Women's Club in Toronto. In addition to the speeches themselves, there are drafts, notes, correspondence, clippings, and supplementary research material, as well as some book reviews.

Speeches are filed chronologically and are mainly original typescripts with some photocopies often with handwritten annotations. Audio recordings of some speeches can be found in Series 12.
