Administrative history / Biographical sketch

Note

In 1956, concerned about the growing number of students at the downtown St. George campus, the University of Toronto proposed the creation of two suburban satellite campuses. In 1962, University of Toronto President Claude T. Bissell decreed that the new campuses, Erindale (now Mississauga) and Scarborough, would offer programs of the same admission standards, quality and degree level as the downtown campus, with the same tuition fees. The colleges would concentrate on offering general Arts and Science courses, to be expanded at a later date. The intention was for extension courses to be offered in Scarborough beginning in 1964, with on-site teaching to begin at the new campus itself in 1965. In 1963 the University of Toronto purchased a 202-acre estate on Highland Creek for close to $650,000 from insurance broker E. L. McLean. The property was originally developed in 1911 by Toronto businessman Miller Lash, who built the 17-room mansion in the Highland Creek Valley that now serves as the Principal's Residence. In 1964 construction began on the college buildings, designed by local architect John Andrew and located on the eastern ridge of the Highland Creek Valley. 16 faculty members were appointed this same year, and evening courses were taught under the Scarborough College name at Birchmount Park Collegiate beginning in October. The College's first Principal, D. C. Williams, was also made a Vice- Principal of the University of Toronto.

Due to a construction strike, the first cohort of Scarborough College students were taught in temporary classrooms at the Old Biology Building on the St. George campus. Arthur FitzWalter Wynne (A.F.W.) Plumptre was named as the second Principal of the College and took up residence in Miller Lash House in 1965. The Scarborough College Athletics Association was formed, and in January of 1966 the S-Wing (Science) and H-Wing (Humanities) were opened to students. The official Opening Ceremonies took place in the fall, and the College's first full year of operation began with 500 students. By 1967 enrollment had doubled to 1000, and the first student magazine, Marooned, was published.

The first graduating class of Scarborough College received their degrees in 1968, and the Scarborough College Alumni Association was consequently formed in 1969. The first literary magazine, Mimesis, was also published in 1969, along with the new student newspaper, Balcony Square, which replaced the short-lived Apocalypse. This strong literary tradition was upheld by the first edition of Scarborough Fair – An Anthology of Literature in 1974, and The Underground newspaper in 1982.

In 1970, the first F. B. Watts Memorial Lecture, named in honour of Scarborough College's retired professor of economics, was given by former Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson, beginning a long-standing tradition of high quality guest lecturing at the College. Former Prime Minister John Diefenbaker also gave a Watts lecture, in 1977. Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau visited campus to give lectures on two separate occasions while in office, in September 1971 and in 1979.

In 1972 Scarborough College became a separate arts and science division within the University of Toronto, allowing the college to take control over the development of its curriculum. The R-Wing (Recreation) also opened, providing students with a fine arts studio, gymnasium, and other sporting facilities. CSCR Radio began to broadcast from Scarborough College. The first student residences opened in 1973, following designs that had been approved in 1971, allowing for the accommodation of 250 students. The College also became the first in Ontario to implement a credit-based system for academics. In 1974 Don Carr became the first winner of the Plumptre Award for outstanding contribution to the advancement of athletics and recreation at Scarborough College. The College became a frontrunner in interfaculty athletics, winning the T. A. Reed Trophy for overall success in interfaculty athletic competition in 1977 and the Marie Parkes Award for overall participation and athletic excellence in interfaculty competition in 1982, and was awarded a Government of Ontario Citation for continued outstanding support to the advancement of amateur sport in 1984.

In 1976 Joan Foley became the first female Principal of any University of Toronto college with her appointment at Scarborough. Construction of a dedicated library building was made a leading priority, and in 1978 the students of the College voted in favour of a $10 per student fee for ten years for the construction of the new library. Construction began in 1981 and the library was opened in 1982, named in memory of Economics Professor Emeritus Vincent W. Bladen.

In 1983, in order to emphasize its relationship with the University of Toronto, Scarborough College changed its name to Scarborough Campus, University of Toronto. The Student Village Centre opened its doors in 1985. Despite the growth of the campus, though, student unrest due to lack of funding culminated in a protest rally at Convocation Hall at St George campus in 1986. The following year, Scarborough Campus celebrated its rich arts history with a week-long event that showcased performing and visual arts called Encore: Festival of the Arts.

Scarborough Campus celebrated its 25th anniversary in 1989, hosting an Open House, Homecoming Weekend, and Alumni Reunion. The West Village opened in 1990, bringing the total number of students that could be accommodated in on-campus residences to 536. In 1992, for the first time, Scarborough Campus became the U of T campus with the greatest number of applicants. Bladen Library established its first World Wide Web site in 1994. The Scarborough Campus Women's Centre also opened that year, and in 1995 Dr. Roberta Bondar, Canada's first female astronaut in space, delivered the 25th anniversary Watts Lecture.

The campus took on its present name in 1996, when it became the University of Toronto at Scarborough, or UTSC. Initial plans for the Academic Resource Centre (ARC) were presented in 1998, and the building opened five years later with an inaugural lecture by CBC journalist Joe Schlesinger. Joan Foley Hall, the campus's newest residence, also opened in 2003. In 2004 the Student Centre was opened, funded in part by a $20 million contribution made by the students of UTSC, the largest financial commitment in University of Toronto history. The Doris McCarthy Gallery and the Management Building were also unveiled as UTSC celebrated its 40th anniversary. The following year also saw the opening of the Arts and Administration Building.

In 2010 two new departments were created – the Department of Philosophy and the Department of English – by a unanimous vote of the Council, bringing the total number of departments to nine. UTSC was awarded $70 million for the construction of a new Instructional Centre in 2009, as well as $170 million for a new athletics center that will be a legacy venue for the 2015 Pan-Am Games.

Custodial history

The UTSC Archives Legacy Collection was developed in the 1980s through the combined efforts of librarians John Ball and Loan Le, but the arrangement of the files as of April 2011 (before the current rearrangement effort began) gave no indication as to who organized the files or to what end.

Prior to May 2011, there was no written custodial history of the records that now comprise the UTSC Archives Legacy Collection. Originally the filing cabinets and boxes were kept in a room near the chemistry laboratories in the S-Wing, before being moved to AC270 ("The Bindery") in the UTSC Library in December 2010.

The archives were largely contained within seven filing cabinets, eleven long boxes, twenty-one banker's boxes, and eleven pamphlet boxes, with other materials being stored haphazardly throughout cupboards, drawers, boxes, and on top of cabinets. As the filing cabinet and long boxes had already been inventoried and arranged to some extent (though not to an archival standard), this was the basis for the arrangement of the whole of the records.

Scope and content

The archives contain a range of documentation relating to the foundation, history, and activities of the University of Toronto Scarborough. The materials have been arranged largely by originating department or by medium in the case of publications, photographs, clippings, architectural plans, and artifacts. There are ten series, several of which have subseries:

Notes

Title notes

Physical condition

Most materials are in good condition. Much of the correspondence from the 1960s and 1970s is on medium-weight typewriter paper, which has begun to tear and fray at the edges due to poor storage. All items have been transferred to acid-free folders or other appropriate encapsulation materials. See contents notes in the series file lists for more details.

Arrangement

The UTSC Archives Legacy Collection is divided into six series based on the function of the creating body of the record, indicated by a letter. Within each series the archives are arranged by subseries, indicated by the first Arabic numeral. Subseries are based on the document's function, office of origin, or format. In some subseries, the records are organized into categories. The use of categories is merely to aid in further subdividing the material for research use. Each category is a set of documents arranged because they relate to a particular subject or function, result from the same activity, document a specific kind of transaction, take a particular physical form, or have some other relationship arising out of their creation, receipt, or use.

Series descriptions

Series 002-A: University of Toronto Governing Council

Date: 1963-2002 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

Series A, University of Toronto Governing Council, covers the years 1963 through 2002. The Governing Council is the highest governing body of the University of Toronto. In 1963, the Governing Council drafted A Provisional Plan for Two Off-Campus Colleges in the University of Toronto, which established Scarborough College (later UTSC) and also Erindale College (later the University of Toronto Mississauga, or UTM). The series includes correspondence and address lists for various council members, by-laws for the council, and council minutes from 1973 to 2002. Also included are documents relating to the opening of the College in 1964 for extension courses and the formal opening in 1966. Materials regarding the design and construction of the College, including architectural drawings, are included as well, since the Governing Council oversaw the construction of the initial buildings.

Physical description: 1.39 m of textual records.

13 artifacts.3 audio reels.

Subseries 002-B-3: Dean and Vice-Principal, Academic

Date: 1965-1971 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

The subseries B.3 Dean and Vice-Principal, Academic covers the years 1965 to 1971. The dean is the senior academic officer at UTSC. The Dean is responsible to the Principal for all academic and administrative decisions within his jurisdiction, which is campus-wide, and also ensures that there is coordination and alignment of UTSC's academic activities within the broader context of the University of Toronto. Areas of authority include academic programming, campus development, appointment and development of faculty, career development of administrative staff, and the well being of students. The materials in this subseries were gathered during the administrations of the following Deans: S.J. Colman (1965-1971), W.E. Beckel (1966-1967), R.A. Manzer (1966-1969) and A.D. Allen (1968-1969). The dean's files included here mostly comprise professional correspondence and other documents issued directly from the dean's office.

Subseries 002-B-9: Scarborough College Council

Date: 1964-2003 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

Subseries B.9 Scarborough College Council covers the years 1964 to 1993. Scarborough College Council (now called the Council of the University of Toronto Scarborough) creates and amends the by-laws that govern the business of Council and its committees. Council, as distinct from its committees, exercises its legislative and related powers by judging matters of broad policy at an early stage of development, establishing a system of committees that provide consultation on policy and related matters, and providing a means by which members of Council and its committees may monitor the implementation of policy. Following the opening of Scarborough College, the Council also oversaw the addition of new buildings (materials relating to the construction of the original buildings, designed by John Andrews, can be found in Series A. Governing Council). The subseries is divided into several categories for ease of organization:

- Chairman, which contains correspondence of the Council's Chair;
- Governing Documents, which contains drafts and final copies of the constitution as well as by-laws;
- Elections, which contains minutes, nomination forms, memos and correspondence;
- Minutes, which contains agendas and minutes from Council meetings from 1964 to 1994 as well as indexes to these minutes;
- Committees, which contains an alphabetical filing of documentation generated by a wide variety of committees set up under the Council's purview;
- Plans and Studies, which contains various campus master plans, capital plans, and planning reports;
- Scarborough College Residences, which contains a report on the addition of student housing;
- Physical Education and Recreation Building, which contains reports detailing the need for such a facility;
- Scarborough College Phase II, which contains correspondence, site plans, section plans, floor plans, electrical details, and materials specific to the Bladen library;
- Arts Centre, which contains reports and correspondence (N.B. this proposed Arts Centre became known as Scarborough Hall, see below);
- Student Centre, which contains a proposal from the Scarborough College Student Council for a student centre, as well as an opening invitation;
- Scarborough Hall, which contains correspondence, reports, minutes, fundraising information, studies, materials from architects Brian Arnott Associates, Carruthers, Shaw and Partners Limited, and Lett/ Smith Architects, and information about the financial problems faced by the project;

- Housing Phase III, which contains a feasibility study;
- Dead Centre, which contains concept drawings and proposals from Montgomery and Sisam Architects:
- Academic Resource Centre, which contains reports, financial information, specifications, correspondence, committee documents, change notices, topographies, floor plans, electrical plans, utility plans, reflected ceiling plans, landscaping plans, site plans, and presentation books from Montgomery Sisam Architects Inc.
- Phase 4 Residences (Joan Foley Hall), which contains correspondence, a design development report from Baird Sampson Neuert Architects Inc. and Montgomery Sisam Associates Inc. Architects, and a presentation book from Dunlop Architects Inc.;
- Pavilion, which contains a report;
- Science Building, which contains committee minutes, correspondence, reports, and other documents;
- Management Building, which contains a project planning report and a presentation book from Kuwabara Payne McKenna Blumberg (KPMB) Architects;
- S&H Wing Balconies, which contains correspondence;
- Arts and Administration Building, which contains two presentation books from Montgomery Sisam Architects Inc.:
- Recreation Centre, which contains a presentation book from CannonDesign;
- Other Buildings/Unidentified, which contains plans and other documents for unidentified buildings, as well as materials relating to the front entrance drop-off, Miller Lash House, the Scarborough College Library; and
- Services, which contains materials for audio-visual services, student residence and conference services, the writing lab, and cafeteria and food services.

Subseries 002-B-13: Committees with Unknown Office of Origin

Date: 1969-1993, 1996, 1998-2003 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

The subseries B.13 Committees with Unknown Office of Origin covers the years 1969 to 1993 and 1998 to 2003. Where possible, committee files have been placed with their office of origin. However, where the office is unknown, the committee files have been placed here in alphabetical order. If the originating office of a committee is discovered, the files will be moved from this subseries to their proper location, above. The files in this subseries include committee reports, minutes, agendas, and other documents.

Physical description: 1.4 m of textual records.

Series 002-C: Academic Departments

Date: 1964-1991, 2005 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

Series C, Academic Departments, covers the years 1964 through 1991 and 2005. The academic departments at UTSC have changed drastically over the course of the university's history. This series utilizes the current (as of 2013) academic structure, with the addition of three early programs (General Program, Extension, and Physical Education), to provide a framework based on academic subjects for arranging departmental material. Divisions and departments that are now defunct or which have been amalgamated into conglomerate departments are represented under the new department heading; however, a comprehensive list of all programs, current or defunct, for which material exists in the collection has been provided in the file list to aid in discovery. This list has been replicated in the scope and content note for each subseries below. The series includes course descriptions, course evaluations, course guides, handbooks, reports, and other materials. The series is divided into eighteen subseries based on the current academic structure of the university.

Physical description: 0.68 m of textual records.

9 audio-visual items.

1 artifact.

Note:

Source of title proper: Title based on contents of the series.

Arrangement:

Material has been arranged principally by subject, and then in chronological order within the subject.

Restrictions on access:

The Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (FIPPA) applies. File 1-16 and 1-17 of subseries C.1. General Program in Arts and Science contain personal information and may not be accessed until the subject of the record has been deceased for 30 years. Please contact the University of Toronto Scarborough Library for more information.

Conditions governing use:

Subseries 002-C-1: General Program in Arts and Science

Date: 1966-1969 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

Subseries C.1, The General Program in Arts and Science, covers the years 1966 through 1969. The General Program was the only available academic track for Scarborough College students during the first four years of operations. Students were given the option to pursue a degree in arts or sciences, and then given a set timetable covering a broad range of subjects in that discipline. The subseries includestimetables, course descriptions, examination results, memos, and other material related to the general program.

Physical description: 0.13 m of textual records.

Series 002-E: External Sources of Information

Date: 1956, 1960-2007 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

The series E. External Sources of Information covers the years 1956 and 1960 to 2007. The series contains items that are relevant to UTSC's history and operations but were not created at the university or by university bodies. The materials have been placed in subseries based on their institution of origin or a perceived similarity in use. There are nine subseries in series E.

Physical description: 2.57 m of textual records.

11 photographs: b&w.

1 photograph: col.

17 books.
3 artifacts.

Note:

Source of title proper: Title based on contents of the series.

Arrangement:

Material has been arranged principally by subject, and then in chronological order within the subject.

Restrictions on access:

The Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (FIPPA) applies. Files that are marked in red contain personal information and may not be accessed until the subject of the record has been deceased for 30 years. Please contact the University of Toronto Scarborough Library for more information.

Subseries 002-E-1: History of Scarborough College (various sources)

Date: 1961-1995, 2004 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

The subseries E.1 History of Scarborough College (various sources) covers the years 1961 to 1966, 1973 to 1995, and 2004. The materials included have been compiled from various sources, most of which would not fit elsewhere within the arrangement schema, to provide researchers with a location where written histories of the campus may be found. Also included is primary research done by the founders of the college into the history of the surrounding area. The files are composed of articles, reports, correspondence, books, and many other materials relating to the history of the campus.

Physical description: 0.12 m of textual material.

3 books.

Subseries 002-E-2: University of Toronto - St George and Mississauga campuses

Date: 1964-1977, 1983-1992 (date of creation)

Scope and content:

The subseries E.2 University of Toronto – St George and Mississauga campusescovers the years 1964 to 1977 and 1983 to 1992. Though most of the material relates to Scarborough tangentially, its provenance lies within UTSC's sister-campuses in downtown Toronto (St George) and Mississauga (previously called Erindale). Many of the items in the subseries are related to tri-campus policies or initiatives, such as early retirement for librarians or master plans, or are related to specific departments. The files are composed mostly of reports and other documents.

Physical description: 0.10 m of textual records. 6 books.

Scope and content:

The subseries E.9 Clippings and Scrapbooks covers the years 1963 to 2006. The materials form a collection of articles clipped from newspapers and magazines that relate to Scarborough College/UTSC, the University of Toronto, the university community, and various other tangential subjects. At the end of the series are eight scrapbooks, four of which continue to be housed in their original covers; these items were assiduously maintained and present a day-to-day reflection on perceptions of Scarborough College/UTSC. Many of the earliest clippings are concerned with the origins of the school and its physical characteristics, while later articles cover all manner of subjects: internal governance, community involvement, students, staff, and faculty, campus events, and many more. Also included are posters, pamphlets, flyers, and other materials relating to a wide range of campus events.

Scope and content:

The subseries F.1 Photographs covers the dates 1965 through 1995 and 1999 through 2005. The photographs have been arranged by subject and then chronologically within subject, showing the campus and buildings, events, and individuals. Of note are the many construction and building photographs taken during the earliest phases of construction on the campus, as well as during the building period in the late 1970s and early 1980s. There are many images depicting the library, including a number of slides that show library teaching presentations. Also noteworthy are the depictions of campus events, which show a vast number of staff and students.
